 The Bigger They Come by A. A. Fair (aka Erie Stanley Gardner of Perry Mason fame) is the first book of the Bertha Cool and Donald Lam series and it is their first case working together as well. Lam is a down-on-his-luck former lawyer who lost his license to practice for a year because he unwisely bragged to a client that he knew a foolproof way to commit murder.

 Surprisingly, New York City had never hosted a world's fair before 1939. New York officials and businessmen led by Grover Whalen hoped that the fair would spur economic development in a city still recovering from the Great Depression. The success of Chicago's 1933-34 Century of Progress strongly influenced the decisions to pursue a fair in ...

The humor of Sherlock Holmes, Donald Westlake, Agatha Christie, Michael Innes, and Edmund Crispin are just a few of those discussed. A major point highlighted by this book is simply that wit, slapstick, laughter, and an anything-can-happen motif appear in a significant amount of fiction about crime.

The basic text for Alcoholics Anonymous.

All the hard-earned storytelling skills of Erie Stanley Gardner, creator of Petty Mason and still the world's biggest-selling writer, are revealed in this informative, entertaining, and instructive book.
